Dear David,

Tge circulatory problems of which I believe I wrote you have reduced my time very much. This requires less time in letters.

Glad you have a new job and are getting your family all together.

I think you have bit off too much. You can't do that much condensing unless you have an open-ended serial.

Why not take one simple but significant subject and see what you can do with it within the time limits you have set for yourself?

I'm not at all sure that there is a legitimate media objective in getting people to sign petitions, especially with the histories of the Congressional investigations. Informing them is different and legitimate.

Best wishes,
